Roadtec Opens New Training Center to Customers for the First Time

The winter training season at Roadtec took place in the brand new training facility completed just in time for the first customer schools in January 2011. The 11,500 square foot (1,070 sq.meters) facility houses a state-of the art auditorium large enough for 100 people. It has been designed so that actual Roadtec product can be driven onto the stage. The new addition to the Roadtec facility also includes a dining facility, a fully outfitted kitchen, and separate classrooms for specific courses.

Roadtec holds customer trainings each winter. These popular courses regularly sell out and existing space simply could no longer accommodate demand. With the new facility Roadtec hopes to serve its customers' in-house training needs for some time to come.
